Set right in the middle of Devon's rolling hills is the little known hamlet of Hollacombe, just a couple of miles outside of Crediton, this beautiful and unspoilt area is a real hidden gem. The villages of Coleford, Yeoford and Copplestone are only a stone's throw too, the latter two with train stations, so although it's quiet, it's not isolated, just a perfect retreat from busy life. Leaving Crediton via Cromwells Cutting is an experience in itself and one that never seems to get old, and soon, turning off down a private lane, you'll find yourself in this tranquil semi-rural setting.

The property was converted in 2009 by local developers Drew and Sons and it's since undergone further upgrades and improvements.

It's a comfortable home with gas central heating (LPG) and double glazing, quality fittings and a flexible layout with three bedrooms on the first floor (master ensuite) and then a fourth bedroom and w/c with integrated bidet on the ground floor. We love the options that are open to how this home is used! At the rear is a dedicated study/hobby room with side access and there's a good sized utility room too, perfect for keeping the white goods out of sight! But it's at the front that this barn really connects with its rural environment. The open plan living room opens onto the south facing gardens, flooding it with light, yet cosy in the winter. An opening leads through to the stylish, modern kitchen with its island and solid surfaces creates an excellent flow between the two but with distinct zones.

Outside, the private lane in from the country lane leads to just 4 properties. The garden to No.2 lies to the south so gets plenty of sunlight. There's off-road parking for two vehicles (plus a small car or trailer behind the house) and the front garden is level and well stocked. There's gorgeous seating areas with a vine covered pergola adding shade and character. There's lawn too and the whole garden is a delightful place to sit. There's access via the side to get to the rear of the property where there's storage, the additional parking and of course access for maintenance.

A surprisingly spacious barn conversion with a south facing garden, in a wonderful semi-rural location just minutes from town!
