LOCATION

16 & 18 St Saviours Lane is situated in the heart of Padstow fishing village, only a short stroll down the hill to the picturesque harbour and with very quick and easy access onto the South West Coast Path and the surrounding coastline. The village of Padstow offers an excellent range of local shops and national retailers catering for day to day needs together with an ever expanding array of pubs and restaurants including The Rick Stein's Seafood Restaurant and cookery school, Paul Ainsworth No 6 and Rojano's – all of which are set amongst the quaint narrow streets and fishermen's cottages.

On the opposite side of the Camel estuary lies the village of Rock, the two being connected by a passenger boat ferry which crosses the estuary from Padstow harbour. The eastern side of the estuary has long sandy beaches and Padstow offers a fine centre for dinghy sailing with its sheltered harbour providing landing and mooring facilities for small crafts of all types.

Padstow still has an active fishing fleet and on both sides of the estuary the village has easy access to the stunning sandy beaches with some of the best surfing in the county at locations such as Polzeath, Trevone, Harlyn and Constantine Bay. There is a championship golf course at Trevose and a further course across the estuary at St Enodoc. There are some superb walks along the estuary following the Camel Trail and The Saints' Way.

The nearest main town is at Wadebridge at the head of the estuary's waters, and from there swift access can be gained into the town of Bodmin which has a mainline railway station connecting direct to London Paddington and Bodmin. Bodmin also has good access onto the A30, the county's main arterial road that connects to Exeter and beyond. Only a short drive away is Cornwall Airport Newquay with an ever expanding array of both national and international destinations.
