Background

Ty Llwyd was built in 1876 for local ship owner Harry Cohen. Full of original features, the stained-glass windows in the lounge depict the relationship between King Arthur and Guinevere and the search for the Holy Grail. It was requisitioned in 1944 for the use of the United States Air Force, and there remains a very interesting piece of history left behind at the property dating back to that time. In the 1950s, the property was split into two and Ty Llwyd had unfortunately fallen into disrepair by the time the current owners purchased it in the 1990s. Since then, this magnificent home has been lovingly restored and extended.

Outside

Front

Off road parking to the front for three vehicles. Steps up to a paved, private seating area that gives access to the front door and gated side access to the rear. There are also further steps that access the first floor of the garage.

Garage 26' 4" x 16' 0" (8.02m x 4.88m)

A large double garage with electric roller shutter door, side door, light and power points. The garage also has a versatile first floor room (7.51m x 2.98m), currently used as storage but one that would be ideal as a home office, playroom or occasional guest bedroom. This room has previously had Planning Permission (now lapsed) for the installation of a bathroom. The first floor room has two Velux windows and a window to the front, power points and eaves storage on both sides. There are solar panels on the roof of the garage - which are owned and would remain with the property.

Rear Garden

A three tiered rear garden with sizeable patio from the house, a lawned area and a lower paved terrace that gives gated access into Windsor Gardens. The upper patio has a stone balustrade, pond and outside lights with steps down to the lawn and 'Italian' garden. The lawned area has paved pathways, numerous outside lights, pergola and power points and mature planting throughout. The lower terrace - the Italian garden - is paved and has the most wonderful wisteria, ornamental carp pond with fountains, dense privacy hedging, outside power points and a timber summer house.
