Description

This detached house is located on the edge of the Culverstone Valley just a short drive away from the main A227 Wrotham Road. Sited on a generous plot of under half an acre, the garden and driveway are wider than average for the road and as such there is ample off-road parking on the shingle driveway that runs across the full width of the property. The accommodation comprises a pitched and tiled storm porch, vaulted entrance hall with turned stairs to the first floor. The lounge has a wood burning stove and patio doors overlooking the garden. There is a separate, well proportioned dining room and a fitted kitchen-breakfast room. Also located on the ground floor is a double bedroom and shower room.

Upstairs are two large double bedrooms, one with traditional en-suite bath/shower room, both have fitted wardrobe cupboards to the eaves.

The garden of Castlewood is mature and has several areas of interest including a lake with a waterfall, oriental garden, patio and lawns. There is a detached garage with two doors, though these have been boarded on the inside but could be removed. A useful carport connects the property and garage.
