

HARDINGS

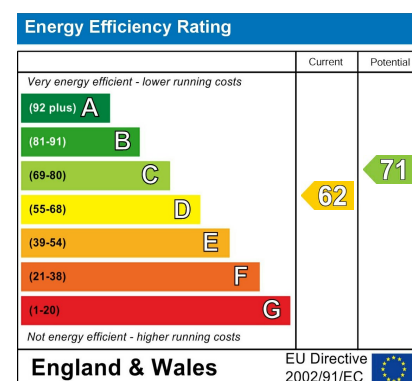

Camperdown House
£1,600 PCM

A first floor conversion apartment situated in an attractive Victorian building in the heart of the town centre. This apartment comprises of Two bedrooms, bathroom, living area and separate kitchen. Other benefits include off-street and permit parking.

Available beginning of June.

Features

- First Floor
- Separate Kitchen
- Tiled bathroom
- High Ceilings
- Available Mid-March
- Close proximity to Windsor Town Centre
- Two bedrooms
- Parking available
- Gas Central Heating
- Unfurnished

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK with a long-term condition has increased by 50% (Department of Health 2000). The prevalence of long-term conditions is expected to increase further as the population ages (Department of Health 2000).

Long-term conditions are often associated with a high burden of illness and disability, and are a leading cause of death and disability in the UK (Department of Health 2000). The impact of long-term conditions on the individual and the wider community is significant. Long-term conditions can lead to a loss of independence, a loss of income, and a loss of social and family life. They can also lead to a loss of health and a loss of quality of life.

Long-term conditions are often associated with a high burden of illness and disability, and are a leading cause of death and disability in the UK (Department of Health 2000). The impact of long-term conditions on the individual and the wider community is significant. Long-term conditions can lead to a loss of independence, a loss of income, and a loss of social and family life. They can also lead to a loss of health and a loss of quality of life.

Long-term conditions are often associated with a high burden of illness and disability, and are a leading cause of death and disability in the UK (Department of Health 2000). The impact of long-term conditions on the individual and the wider community is significant. Long-term conditions can lead to a loss of independence, a loss of income, and a loss of social and family life. They can also lead to a loss of health and a loss of quality of life.

Long-term conditions are often associated with a high burden of illness and disability, and are a leading cause of death and disability in the UK (Department of Health 2000). The impact of long-term conditions on the individual and the wider community is significant. Long-term conditions can lead to a loss of independence, a loss of income, and a loss of social and family life. They can also lead to a loss of health and a loss of quality of life.

Long-term conditions are often associated with a high burden of illness and disability, and are a leading cause of death and disability in the UK (Department of Health 2000). The impact of long-term conditions on the individual and the wider community is significant. Long-term conditions can lead to a loss of independence, a loss of income, and a loss of social and family life. They can also lead to a loss of health and a loss of quality of life.

Long-term conditions are often associated with a high burden of illness and disability, and are a leading cause of death and disability in the UK (Department of Health 2000). The impact of long-term conditions on the individual and the wider community is significant. Long-term conditions can lead to a loss of independence, a loss of income, and a loss of social and family life. They can also lead to a loss of health and a loss of quality of life.

Long-term conditions are often associated with a high burden of illness and disability, and are a leading cause of death and disability in the UK (Department of Health 2000). The impact of long-term conditions on the individual and the wider community is significant. Long-term conditions can lead to a loss of independence, a loss of income, and a loss of social and family life. They can also lead to a loss of health and a loss of quality of life.

Long-term conditions are often associated with a high burden of illness and disability, and are a leading cause of death and disability in the UK (Department of Health 2000). The impact of long-term conditions on the individual and the wider community is significant. Long-term conditions can lead to a loss of independence, a loss of income, and a loss of social and family life. They can also lead to a loss of health and a loss of quality of life.

11 High Street, Windsor, Berkshire, SL4 1LD,
T: 01753 833 118 | E: info@hardings.co.uk
www.hardings.co.uk

