SITUATION

Teignmouth is a true gem on the South Devon coast, well-connected by mainline rail to London Paddington and just 18 miles from Exeter Airport. The university and cathedral city of Exeter, together with nearby Torbay, are easily accessible, with Exeter continuing to thrive as the South West's leading regional hub. With origins dating back to 1044, when it was first two small villages, Teignmouth is steeped in maritime history as a port town at the mouth of the Teign Estuary. By the 1800s it had established itself as a fashionable seaside resort and remains a sought-after destination today. The town combines the charm of its working harbour and marina with traditional seaside appeal, boasting a promenade, pier and sandy beaches ideal for sailing, water sports and coastal leisure. Teignmouth is well-served for everyday living, offering a wide choice of local shops, amenities, and its own community hospital. There is excellent schooling across all age groups, along with recreational opportunities including an 18-hole golf course just 2.5 miles away. The Dartmoor National Park lies only 12 miles to the west, providing spectacular landscapes and outdoor pursuits.
