Set just a short stroll from the heart of the town, Charleigh House offers the ease and efficiency of a newly built home in a location that connects with day-to-day convenience. This is a home that lends itself to low-maintenance luxury—clean, contemporary lines, well-planned space, and a layout designed for the way we live today.

The property's chalet-style design brings flexibility, with a sociable kitchen/dining/family room which opens out to a broad terrace and enclosed garden—perfect for relaxed mornings or weekend entertaining. Three bedrooms include a principal suite with a walk-in wardrobe and private en-suite, while the integral garage and off-road parking take care of practicalities without compromise.

The ground floor benefits from underfloor heating, keeping things comfortable and clutter-free, and as a newly built property, Charleigh House is all about easy upkeep and energy efficiency. There's even limited opportunity to collaborate with the developer and influence some of the finishing touches—making it feel even more your own from day one.

For families, the location couldn't be easier—just a short walk from the local primary school and town amenities, with the University Academy within easy reach. Whether you're stepping into your first home, downsizing with ease, or looking for something fresh and futureproof, Charleigh House quietly covers all bases.

Long Sutton

A HISTORICAL MARKET TOWN WITH WITH COUNTRYSIDE APPEAL

Long Sutton is a picturesque market town in Lincolnshire, surrounded by open countryside and steeped in history. Its weekly market dates back to the 13th century and remains a thriving tradition. At the heart of the town stands St Mary's Church, notable for its elegant timber-covered spire, often compared to Chesterfield's famous Crooked Spire—though Long Sutton's stands perfectly straight.

Once a thriving trading hub, Long Sutton is also linked to the legendary highwayman Dick Turpin, who is believed to have lived there under an alias—his legacy still present in the town's street names.

Today, the town offers a strong sense of community and a wide range of amenities. These include spacious parks, independent shops, supermarkets, a library, medical centre, sports facilities, and schools serving all age groups. A weekly market on a Friday morning offers local flowers, baked goods, fish mongers and more. A stand-out landmark is Harrison's Mill, built in 1843. Once wind-powered with six sails, it now stands as a six-story relic of the town's industrial past.

Long Sutton lies within the fertile Lincolnshire Fens, an area known for its rich agriculture and vital natural wetlands. These marshlands are home to many endangered bird species, making the region a paradise for birdwatchers and nature lovers.

Just a short drive away, the Georgian town of Spalding offers riverside walks, garden centres, museums, and the popular Springfields Outlet for shopping and leisure. For city connections, Peterborough is the closest urban hub, with direct rail services to London, Leeds, Newcastle, and Glasgow—keeping Long Sutton well connected while retaining its rural charm.
