Introduction

This superb penthouse apartment was converted in the 1980s as one of just five spacious and self contained properties within a grand period house in the sought after Venns Lane on the northern fringe of the city centre. The building was owned originally by Admiral Loder Symmonds and then used as part of the Ladies Teacher Training College. This central and elevated location has many easy to reach amenities and a bus stop right outside.

Standing in good sized and well maintained communal gardens there is also an allocated parking space. There is gas central heating (new in 2014) and a good range of storage and fitted cupboards to take advantage of the sloping ceilings, the roof lights and dormer windows ensure that there is plenty of light all day long with views at the front towards the Black Mountains, Sugar Loaf and over the city including the Cathedral plus the Malverns and Cleve Hills to the rear.

The light and airy accommodation comprises: study/hall, kitchen/dining room, living room, 2 double bedrooms with fitted units and a bathroom.

Property Description

This is a super and welcoming space with a huge roof light which gives lovely views and has useful fitted cupboards below. A door to the left leads into the living room which has a dormer double window again with views over the city, there is a gas fire with fitted shelving above and openings into the kitchen/dining room either side. This large room has a wide range of fitted units with eye level oven, gas hob with extractor, integrated fridge freezer, large remote controlled roof light and in the dining area is further range of storage cupboards flanking one wall plus the double dormer window with views to the rear.
