Introduction

Located on a development of barns originally dating from around 1800 and converted to residential use in 2005. This Grade II listed property is located on a corner plot offering views over open farmland which stretch from Clee Hill in the North to The Black Mountains and Skirrid in the South. Converted to a high standard throughout the accommodation benefits from double glazing, solid wood flooring and LPG gas fired underfloor heating throughout with individual room thermostats.

The property is entered via a tiled entrance hall to the hallway which has wooden latch doors leading off to all rooms including; bedrooms one and two which both have en-suite shower rooms, bedrooms three and four which both have built in storage, the family bathroom with three piece white suite and a rear lobby leading to the rear patio.

Stairs rise from the hallway to the stunning first floor living accommodation which is open plan with vaulted ceilings and exposed wooden beams throughout and several windows all with views over open countryside. At one end is found the kitchen area comprising of wall and base units, drawers and shelving all under fitted worktop, inset sink drainer unit, integrated appliances and useful breakfast bar. A door leads to a useful utility room with further sink, cupboards and plumbing for a washing machine.
