Learn more about the history behind the name

An extract from the Morning Post, 9th May 1917:

“On a picturesque site in the grounds of the Royal Naval Hospital Haslar, overlooking the Solent, with the hills of the Isle of Wight forming a charming background, there has been built a magnificent new wing to the great Naval Hospital, which will pass to posterity as a monument to the patriotism and the loyalty of the women of Canada.

At the outbreak of the war the Canadian women, anxious to demonstrate in practical form their deep sense of devotion to the Mother Country, organised a fund to aid the nursing of the sick and wounded. A sum approaching £50,000 was raised in a very short period, and was handed to the Imperial Government to be applied in whatever way they considered best. There had for a long time been a pressing need for a ward extension at the Royal Naval Hospital, Haslar, and the Government allocated the major portion of the generous gift to the construction of a new wing to that institution, which will, when completed, be named the Canadian Women’s Wing.

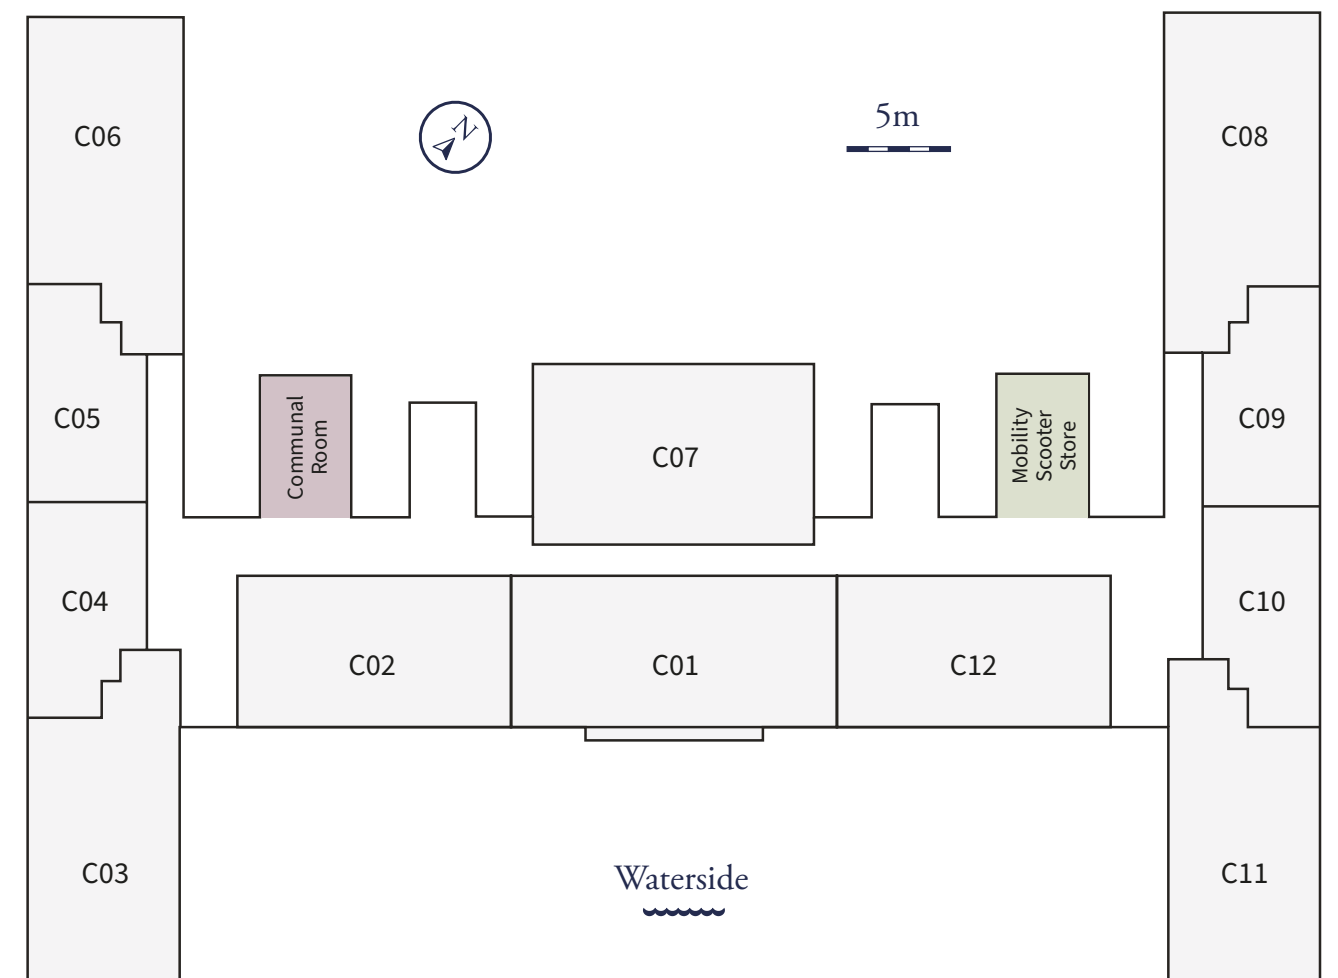

The new building will have three floors, and will be equipped throughout on the most modern hygienic principles. There will be a graceful veranda running along the whole length of the building. In every respect the building will be worthy of the sentiments which prompted the promotion of the fund. While history will record the gallant response of the men of the Dominion to the Empire’s call, and their bravery in the battlefield, which has been worthy of the finest British traditions of pluck and heroism, the Canadian Women’s wing in Haslar Hospital will be ever looked upon as a monument to the loyal devotion of the Women of the Dominion in this greatest of the Empire’s trials.”

Royal Haslar History

Boasting wonderful views of the Isle of White, Portsmouth and The Solent, Royal Haslar's serene sea-front location is a breath of fresh air with a wonderfully rich history

A Long & Distinguished History

After submissions to King George II, led by the Earl of Sandwich and the Admiralty, planning for the hospital commenced in 1745. Haslar was to be one of three proposed hospitals to provide care for sailors of the Fleet. The building of the hospital took 16 years and was completed in 1762.

James Lind

Many famous men and women have served at Haslar, among them James Lind, the 'father of nautical medicine' who discovered a cure for scurvy. Lind continued his studies whilst Senior Physician at Haslar, for in his time ships routinely landed with many of their crew suffering from scurvy. In 1797 the First Lord of the Admiralty visited Haslar and asked to see a case of scurvy, but not one could be found.

A Masterpiece of Classical Design

Haslar was designed by Theodore Jacobsen, FRS, in the manner of the Foundling Hospital (London). Building was under the direction of James Horne, a surveyor, and John Turner, a Master Carpenter from Portsmouth Dockyard. Although no record of a formal opening of the Royal Hospital Haslar can be traced, it is believed to have opened on the 12th October 1753.

Serving Haslar's Spiritual Needs

Completed in 1754, St. Luke's Chapel has served the spiritual needs of Royal Haslar for over 250 years and is open for mass at 11:00am on the 4th Sunday of every month.

Times Change

The 21st century

When Haslar entered its fourth century it opened a new chapter in its history, joining in partnership with Portsmouth Hospitals National Health Service Trust in 2001. Blending the best of Medicine in the NHS with the best of Military Medicine at the same time, it was sophisticated hospital with advanced medical technology, housed in a prestigious and splendidly-preserved historic Georgian building.

Times quickly change: on the 31st March 2007 the Royal Hospital Haslar ceased to be a Ministry of Defence-managed hospital, and 254 years of continuous military medical care came to a close.

Never Was So Much Owed By So Many To So Few

The 20th century

During the many wars of the twentieth century and especially the First and Second World Wars, Haslar was a busy hospital. During and after D-Day, both Allied and enemy Troops were treated at Haslar in great numbers, and Royal Navy surgeons were joined by US Army surgeons in treating the wounded.

21st Century Technology

We've installed smart technology through a digital Smart Living emergency call system that enables connectivity with the outside world and connection to app enabled services such as smart speakers and video calling . We have systems in place that help residents to easily share their feedback with us so we can adapt our services and check in with customers as to how we're doing.

Interconnected Living

Our telehealth services are made possible by a secure, development-wide Wi-Fi service, which also provides residents with access to FirstPort's online customer account portal, Your Property Online.

All of our communal lounges will have an Alexa-style device that's been fully programmed to carry out a range of useful tasks for our residents. These devices have been linked to the Smart TVs within our communal lounges, which will also be used as a digital noticeboard to share information about our exercise, well-being programmes and other events.

We've invested in the latest technology so that our residents can benefit from a range choices of Telecare and telehealth support - from reassurance calls and fall detectors, to well-being monitoring devices. We also offer Wi-Fi within our apartments too, so our residents can live more independently.

Workspace Zone

We will have a dedicated Workspace area for our residents who are still professionally active. With access to technology and equipment to support a business centre environment, we ensure that a quiet space is available to book.

Car Share Scheme

We will also run shared electric car schemes to reduce the need for multiple cars on-site. A facility to book environmentally friendly travel options will be available and our on-site team can then assist in enabling access.

Smart Living Systems

All of our apartments are fitted with a Smart Living System that can connect to optional support solutions, such as an alert watch. These GPS-enabled watches allow the emergency services to identify exactly where our residents are, so that they can locate and assist them sooner.

Meanwhile, the video calling functionality can make family and friends more accessible and means consultations with GPs, specialists and other professionals can be carried out remotely rather than face-to-face. The main door access can also be monitored and controlled from this device, providing our residents with an extra level of reassurance and security. There's also an option for a tablet and mirror app to be activated, so that information that's available within apartments can be viewed by friends/relatives effortlessly, quickly and securely.

Detecting Fires

We have electronic fire detection equipment that identifies where an incident is and alerts the appropriate services immediately, including on-site team will help co-ordinate all of our customers in the event of an emergency.

Site Safety

This ranges from making sure that the boundary fencing and gates are well maintained and installing CCTV in external communal areas to ensure safety and security is maintained in an unobtrusive way, to making sure our rigorous recruitment systems help appoint staff, who've been thoroughly vetted and can offer the best possible support to our residents.

Community and Social Inclusion

Customer engagement is incredibly important to us and is central to the real sense of community we're creating here at Royal Haslar.

We believe the key to achieving a trusted, open and honest relationship with our residents is great customer communication. The more we know the rhymes and rhythms of our residents, the better we're able to serve and nurture that sense of belonging. We're always exploring new ways of engaging with our residents and looking at how we can support them to develop a sense of community. This, in turn, can have a positive impact on people's health, happiness and wellbeing.

Communicating with Residents

We communicate with our residents in all sort of ways, through digital and personal connections, it really depends on their individual preferences. FirstPort's magazine is distributed to residents twice-yearly and is packed full of stories, advice and activities. While our on-site team creates bespoke communications plans that are based on people's requirements. For example, some residents may want us to check in on them every day, while others are happier for us to monitor their wellbeing digitally.

When we first meet our residents, one of the first things we ask them is how much they would like family members to be involved in their affairs. If they'd like us to, we're more than happy to integrate their relatives into the FirstPort community on-site. Or, if they prefer, we can provide reassurance via our digital platforms. The choice is theirs.

Healthcare Needs

FirstPort has embedded itself within the local communities where our developments are based. Many residents may not need additional health support when they move in, but health care needs can change over time. We have close working relationships with a range of local health professionals, such as the GP surgeries and dental surgeries, as well as other supplementary health professionals, such as occupational therapists and physiotherapists.

Crisis Situations

While we hope a serious incident will never take place at Royal Haslar, we are primed and ready to respond should this ever be the case. Our experienced team of customer service advisors have been trained on how to operate a crisis management facility and arrange and manage all aspects of a major incident.

This team also has direct access to the senior managers at FirstPort and, if we need to, we can activate our crisis management team, providing the best level of support, peace of mind and crisis management.

Dealing with Emergencies

We run a 24-hour, 7-days a week platinum monitoring and emergency service that's supported by our experienced team of customer service advisors who are on standby to respond to all types of emergencies. The moment a call's activated, one of team will help – they will be able to identify who the resident is and where they are calling from before the call has even been answered.

We'll also contact family members to make them aware of what's happened. And, if we need to, we can contact the emergency services and operate the door to give them access.

It should be noted that the services & amenities detailed herein will be subject to ongoing review & refreshment, and therefore, may be subject to change to ensure the needs of the community are facilitated in the best and most cost effective way.

About FirstPort

As the UK's largest residential Property Manager, FirstPort understands that residential properties are more than just bricks and mortar to the people who live in them. These properties are your home, and you expect the highest possible standards of property service, at the most cost effective price. With over 40 years' experience and 196,000 homes under our management, we've learnt what makes a first class property management service. With our significant scale, we deliver national coverage backed by a local, personal service.

Estate Management & Services

Privately-managed estates are run by a Managing Agent. This means that all property owners (houses, apartments and commercial) on the estate share the costs for maintaining the common areas. For example, landscaped areas, maintenance and the upkeep of the roads, or the common parts of the building, if you're living in a block of apartments.

As a Managing Agent, our role is to make sure your building's safe, well maintained and serviced. However, we do so much more; whether it's the upkeep of the communal areas or staying on top of the running repairs, we're here to manage them for you.

We want to be the company that you turn to first to look after your home and community. We work every day to provide excellent levels of property management and customer service for the retirement owner. Our experienced employees use robust systems to keep your property secure and in the best condition. While our skilled Development Managers are on site and at hand for our retirement customers, they are supported by a dedicated Property Manager who will regularly visit and inspect the communal areas and our dedicated Customer Services team is on hand to answer any accounts queries or general issues you may have about your development.

We have the breadth and depth of knowledge and commitment to keep improving our service and to exceed what's expected, rather than simply follow a standard. If you've decided Royal Haslar is for you, our Development Manager will organise a tour of the development and introduce you to Royal Haslar's vibrant community, extensive facilities and amenities and wide range of activities where retirement living has been re-imagined.
