WHISSENDINE

Whissendine is an interesting Rutland village which lies approximately 5 miles to the north-west of Oakham and 6.5 miles to the south-east of Melton Mowbray.

Within the village there are two public houses, a church and a highly regarded primary school. In addition, there is a sports complex with playing fields and cricket ground.

In both Melton Mowbray and Oakham there is a good range of shops which cater for most needs together with regular produce markets, as well as doctors, dentists and opticians.

For schooling, in addition to the local village school there is a range of Local Authority schools in both Oakham and Melton Mowbray, and these complement the range of private schools also available in the area.

For commuters, there is a British Rail terminal at Oakham where there are train services to Leicester, Birmingham, Peterborough and Kettering. At the latter two destinations there are good services to London, King's Cross. A number of people who live in Whissendine commute to other centres and these include Nottingham, Leicester and Loughborough.
