Unique period home • Extended with oak-framed gable end • Stunning 32ft open plan living dining kitchen • Two ground floor bedrooms • Upstairs third bedroom/study • Refitted ground floor bathroom • Attractive landscaped, walled garden • Double detached garage and off-road parking • Popular village • Excellent access to Market Harborough & its train station •

Accommodation

This characterful property steeped in history, was once the former lodge house to Papillon Hall, (which was originally built in c1620 and re-designed by Sir Edwin Lutyens into a butterfly shaped country house in 1903, hence the name Papillon, demolished in 1950. The Hall was requisitioned by the 82nd Airborne Division, US army during WW2.

The traditional entrance is tucked round to the side, and leads into a hall where bespoke, hand-crafted stairs rise ahead of you. To your right is a sumptuous, cosy sitting room with a contemporary log-burning stove providing the perfect focal point, while feature exposed brick walls, leaded windows and Victorian-gothic arched double doors add charm and character.

Through the double doors is the stunning open plan living dining kitchen. Cleverly and sympathetically extended with an oak-framed garden room and gable end, spanning some 32ft by 17ft, it's a show-stopping space, perfect for entertaining. The kitchen is equipped with an extensive range of bespoke, handmade cabinetry providing ample storage, with a ceramic double Belfast sink, Corian worksurfaces and a fitted breakfast bar. The centrepiece is the blue Rayburn range oven tucked within the chimney breast recess. A fitted pantry cupboard to the corner offers further storage, and there is plumbing and space for dishwasher, washing machine, and space for a fridge/freezer. Natural light pours in through windows to the rear and side, while the oak-framed gable ended family room allows for plenty of further light. Here, the Victorian-gothic arched doors provide an open flow into the sitting room, while double doors lead out to the garden and garage beyond. Well fitted with glass lamps and spot lighting adds a unique ambience to the room during twilight hours.

Through the entrance hall you will find two ground floor bedrooms and a refitted bathroom featuring a free-standing roll-top bath, luxury Makti shower cubicle, WC and a wash hand basin, which combines both the period and contemporary. Up the stairs you will find a converted attic room which currently serves as a study but could also serve as a 3rd/guest bedroom, with dormer windows providing plenty of light, the rear of which featuring a window seat to take in the countryside views beyond the garden. There is restricted head height and access to loft space/eaves storage through a small hatch/door to the side.

Outside

Papillon Lodge sits within a private, enclosed parcel of landscaped, low-maintenance gardens enclosed by brick walls and hedgerows with fields beyond. The double detached garage sits to the rear with secure electric shutter doors and gated access on to the driveway (that's accessed from the lane at the side). There is also a stable-style door from the garden into the garage, which being 21ft by 18ft offers scope for vehicular storage or as a workshop/gym.
