Location

Clovelly Drive is a quiet residential road made up of semi-detached homes, tucked just off Clovelly Road. It enjoys a peaceful setting within easy walking distance of Beacon Hill village centre and nearby woodland. Beacon Hill is a charming Surrey village surrounded by beautiful National Trust land, including The Devil's Punch Bowl and The Golden Valley—both offering stunning countryside walks. The village itself provides a range of local shops, restaurants, and a well-regarded primary school catering to both infants and juniors. Nearby Grayshott offers a broader selection of shops, services, and amenities, while the larger towns of Haslemere and Farnham are also within easy reach. Both provide mainline rail services to London Waterloo, along with a wider choice of shopping, dining, and leisure facilities. The A3 is easily accessible, with the Hindhead Tunnel offering fast road links north towards Godalming, Guildford, and London, and south to Petersfield and Portsmouth. The area is well-served for outdoor pursuits, with nearby golf courses, acres of National Trust land perfect for walking or riding, and sailing available at Frensham Pond.
