A sack load of history.

Do the hard yards. Because if you dig deep enough you will always find what you're looking for. This is one of those. A story that gets us hooked and binds the project together.

Situated at the original trading hub of the city centre, Upper Gough Street sits adjacent to the Mailbox complex which was once the site of the Midland Railway's Birmingham Central Goods Yard. Bullseye!

Opened in 1887, it initially handled wagons of mostly perishable and non-perishable goods such as tobacco and alcohol. These would be warehoused on site with horse-drawn vehicles employed for delivering goods to be traded across the city. The site continued to handle parcel traffic right up until the 1960's when it was forced to close.

So there it is. The piece of history that makes it one of ours. A goods yard on our site. What could be more authentic, more apt? Full steam ahead.

A load off your mind.

Great products sell themselves. Our track record proves that. So we will always settle for being great at this rather than the biggest. And to do what we do in historic locations that we're passionate about, well that's the real deal. It gives it heart. And an original, is always worth more than a copy.

That's why we do what we do. To use all the skill on our doorstep to breathe new life into our city.

The trade off? Well we do all the heavy lifting, the grafting and vetting, and you get the quality goods. Simple really. In black and white. Price is what you pay. Value is what you get.

No nonsense. Just a reassuringly independent approach. The rest, as they say, is history.

No.1 Commerce ...

If you're anything like us, you'll like to look sharp. Be smart, look the part. And whatever takes your fancy is here. No need to get it mailed, everything's within touching distance. Go explore - shop, as they say, till you drop.

No.1 Careers ...

This place is known for getting the deal done. It's always been good at trading goods and doing business. And nothing's changed really. It's just got bigger - Deutsche Bank, Deloitte, HSEC, KPMG, BBC - the list continues. Why stay in the capital, when you can aim for something far better?

No.1 Culinary ...

We've always been good at making things. It used to be the world's finest guns and jewellery but now we've turned our hand to fine dining. And we've excelled at it. With the most Michelin-star restaurants outside of London, we're now the UK's most exciting food destination.

No.1 Cocktails ...

Chapmans Yard is a place with a taste for the good life. Everything's on tap. So whatever your flavour, it's got some of the UK's finest microbreweries, mixologists, and wine connoisseurs ready to take your order.

No.1 Culture ...

The culture of Birmingham is characterised by a deep-seated tradition of individualism and experimentation. We are a city full of artists and innovators who come together to create culture that is both powerful and inspiring.

No.1 Connectivity ...

Birmingham's always been going places. The UK's major transport hub in the centre of England, it benefits from a wealth of road, rail, and air travel riches. Convenience is king in this city.

And it's about to get better. Sitting at the heart of the high-speed rail network, Birmingham's Curzon Street station will drop you in the capital in a mere 49mins - beat that!
