History

Steeped in over 650 years of true British history its story begins after John Attwood acquired a formal license in 1362 to enclose 600 acres of land at Kidderminster and Wolverley.

The Park Attwood Estate stayed within the Attwood family for nearly 450 years. The deeds were bought by Henry Chillingworth of Holt Castle whose family remained there until just before the outbreak of the First World War.

The Manor's new owner, Thomas Hessin-Charles decided the property would become a hotel. During World War 2 the site became a billet for the Royal Corps of Signals. In more recent times Park Attwood has been, a hotel, a country club, a therapeutic centre and now a beautiful exclusive residential development in a stunning setting.
