SITUATION

Set in a secluded yet convenient location between Bickleigh, Thorverton and Cadbury. Thorverton is the closest village being located just a short ten-minute drive away, offering essential amenities such as a parish church, two welcoming pubs, and a village hall that hosts a monthly Saturday Market featuring locally sourced products. Bickleigh Castle is also a short walk/drive from the property. Bickleigh and Thorverton also have excellent schooling.

For everyday necessities, Tiverton is in close proximity, providing access to a Tesco Superstore. Additionally, Tiverton offers easy access to the M5 motorway, and Exeter Airport is within reach. Tiverton Parkway station conveniently offers frequent train services to London Paddington. The local area also boasts a diverse selection of schools, catering to both independent and state education preferences with the well renowned Blundells School offering discounted school fees to local children.

DESCRIPTION

Way Farm showcases an impressive integration of historical preservation and modern living, set against the backdrop of Devon's scenic landscapes. This well-preserved farmhouse retains authentic period elements such as priest holes, extensive Inglenook fireplaces, and traditional joinery, complemented by contemporary comforts. The property's expansive grounds include a south-facing garden and a private swimming pool, creating a serene retreat. Located near Exeter and various local villages, Way Farm offers the perfect balance of seclusion and accessibility, making it a prime choice for those seeking the tranquility of pastoral life with convenient access to urban amenities.

ACCOMMODATION

The interior opens to three elegantly appointed reception rooms on the ground floor, each featuring exposed wooden beams and Inglenook fireplaces that anchor the spaces with a touch of historical grandeur. The heart of the home is a spacious kitchen/dining area equipped with an Aga and direct access to a picturesque garden, ideal for outdoor dining and entertainment. This area is styled with classic furnishings that reflect the home's rich historical narrative whilst the kitchen has recently been refitted by Lowe & Bespoke. Additional ground-level amenities include a study and a snug, enhanced by period-specific plank and muntin screens and adorned with windows that fill the space with natural light. There is also a utility room/ wash-house.

On the first floor, five thoughtfully designed bedrooms await, including a master suite with panoramic views and an en-suite bathroom equipped with high-end fixtures. A striking feature of this level is the spiral wooden staircase, adding functional elegance and historical charm. The family bathroom serves the additional bedrooms, featuring a standalone roll-top bath and a double shower with views over the lush landscape. A third bathroom supports Bedroom 4 and 5, whilst the main guest bedroom has an attractive roll top bath. A large walk-in airing cupboard completes the accommodation.

GARDENS & GROUNDS

The exterior of Way Farm is as remarkable as its interior, with a meticulously maintained garden leading to a secluded pool area and pool house, now converted into a studio with bi-fold doors. The garden extends westward to a swimming pool set perfectly to catch the evening sun. The property also boasts two orchards, a vegetable garden with solar enhancements, and a woodland copse, complementing its rural setting. Outbuildings offer potential for further development, providing new owners with numerous possibilities for customization.
