SITUATION

Staverton Mill is a beautifully restored mill on the banks of the River Dart in Staverton, a pretty village renowned for its steam trains, Sea Trout Inn and some of the best walks in the area. The A38 at Buckfastleigh is just 4 miles away providing fast access to Plymouth and the M5 at Exeter, with intercity trains running from nearby Totnes.

The location is perfect for canoeing, walking, fishing or visiting one of the areas many attractions including nearby Riverford Farm (home to an award winning organic restaurant) and historic Dartington Hall with its exclusive shops.

DESCRIPTION

The building was formerly public conveniences operated by South Hams District Council, which closed in 2019. The construction, we believe, is block with render under a flat roof with one skylight. The building is divided into two parts.

On the southern elevation a short flight of steps leads up to the entrance to the gents with a door leading into the urinal area with small windows to the front, wash hand basin and a door into a toilet cubicle, with a small window to the rear.

There is a separate door leading into the storage cupboard where the fuse board and electric meter is located. On the northern elevation, a single step leads up to a door which leads through to the ladies toilets, where there are two cubicle toilets underneath the skylight, with a wash hand basin in the corner and a small window to the front. The building, as shown on the plan, includes a strip of land to the front.
