Rampayne Street, Pimlico, London

Set in the distinguished Lillington Gardens Estate, this three storey apartment extends to approximately 899 sq ft and benefits from both generous interiors and a private patio garden.

Lillington Gardens was designed by the celebrated practice Darbourne & Darke and constructed in phases during the 1960s and early 1970s. The estate is widely admired for its distinctive red-brick architecture, landscaped walkways and thoughtfully planned outdoor spaces, which together create a sense of community rare in such a central London setting. Today it is recognised as a landmark development, with several buildings listed for their architectural importance.

The accommodation is arranged over three floors. The ground level features a bright open-plan reception room and kitchen with direct access to the private patio garden, ideal for entertaining or quiet relaxation. The first floor hosts a spacious principal bedroom alongside a modern bathroom. The top floor provides two further bedrooms and a shower room, offering flexibility for family life, guests or home working.

Priory House occupies a discreet position on Rampayne Street, moments from Pimlico Underground Station on the Victoria Line. The location combines excellent connectivity with the village-like atmosphere of Pimlico, while Victoria, Westminster and the River Thames are all within easy reach.

This is a rare opportunity to acquire a home with both private outside space and architectural pedigree, in one of central London's most convenient and characterful neighbourhoods.
