Description

A wonderful Edwardian house built by Frank Duke in 1912 and occupying a prominent corner plot between Goring Road and Jarvis Lane in a most sought after part of central Steyning.

This substantial house is arranged over three floors with light and spacious rooms.

A particular feature is the spacious hallway dominated by the impressive oak staircase.

Arranged in a traditional layout there are rooms in each corner with many being double aspect and many rooms having fireplaces.

The large kitchen has a utility area and walk-in larder, views over the garden and side access with a door to the dining room, this is bay fronted and mirrors the living room. A garden room has French doors and is an ideal snug or playroom. This level also has a shower room giving the option for the garden room to be potentially changed into a ground floor bedroom if required.

On the first floor are four large double bedrooms and a bathroom and an airing cupboard. The top floor is currently arranged as an office, bathroom and large music room/second living room with glazed double doors and a galleried landing and a large picture window which affords fabulous views over the gardens and beyond. This could also potentially be a main bedroom suite with ensuite and dressing room if preferred.

Outside there is good off-street parking at the front and side and a large garage.

The beautiful gardens are level and secluded with three patio areas for sitting and enjoying while the mature borders give privacy.

The house has many original features and gas fired central heating and although in good decorative order, gives potential for a buyer to fulfil their individual requirements.
