DESCRIPTION

Tyn Y Pistyll provides a wonderful opportunity to acquire an imposing individual stone built detached country house, which offers deceptively spacious accommodation, whilst being versatile particularly to the ground floor layout. The bedroom accommodation is well proportioned and provides a bathroom on both the first floor and ground floor, however there may be scope to provide an en-suite facility to Bedroom 4, which then could be utilised as the principal bedroom. There is ample scope for modernisation, which would no doubt allow prospective purchasers to incorporate their own tastes and requirements. There are a number of interesting features to the accommodation including tiled floors, original parquet flooring, exposed beamed ceilings, fireplaces and two staircases. The property has the benefit of a new roof (approx. 5-6 years ago) and has been fully rewired (approx. 10 years ago).

Outside the house is set in delightful gardens and will of no doubt be of interest to families and garden enthusiasts. The main lawned garden is bordered by some stone walling and lovely mature trees which extend down the flank of the house to the large vegetable garden which could be altered to more formal gardens if required. Beyond the tree line on the boundary to the property is open farmland which provides lovely open views and this could perhaps be opened up. There is a useful range of stone stores, including a garage.
