SITUATION

Glebe Farm occupies a delightful, peaceful rural setting, surrounded by open countryside, the property enjoys some attractive views and is approached via its own private driveway. Highampton offers a public house, primary school and village hall. The nearby market town of Hatherleigh, offers a small supermarket, post office, doctor's surgery and vet practice as well as a petrol station and Cafe. A more comprehensive range of amenities can be found in Okehampton, the town offering an excellent range of shopping facilities, three supermarkets including a Waitrose, expanding sixth form college, cinema and leisure centre. From Okehampton there is direct access to the Dartmoor National Park, with hundreds of square miles of superb unspoilt scenery. The Okehampton Train Station provides a connection to the main line at Exeter with links to London Paddington and Waterloo. There is also access to the A30, providing a direct link to the city of Exeter. The area surrounding Highampton offers delightful unspoilt countryside and is well known for its opportunities for leisure pursuits. The nearby Tarka Trail and Ruby Way both offer miles of superb cycling, riding and walking. There is fishing on the Torridge and good access to the north coasts of Devon and Cornwall with attractive beaches and delightful coastal scenery.

DESCRIPTION

A most appealing detached farmhouse, offering deceptively spacious accommodation throughout. The current accommodation is configured as a spacious four bedroom, three reception room main dwelling with attached two bedroom self contained annexe. The annexe and main house can easily be combined as they interconnect to make a six bedroom house if required. An ideal smallholding set in 8.6 acres, offering three separate paddocks with a range of stabling and useful outbuildings, suitable for a variety of different uses/hobbies. Towards the rear, there are well tended lawned gardens, which include a patio area, ponds and area of woodland, together with lovely views towards Dartmoor.

OUTSIDE

The property is approached via timber gates and a long concrete tarmac driveway. The drive leads into a huge tarmac forecourt with drive around a central circular lawn area. From the forecourt there is access to the main outbuildings, stables and garage. Outside tap and outside lighting. Concrete yard area with adjoining STABLES, incorporating FIVE BOXES, TACK ROOM, HAYSTORE and further STORE. Power and light connected.. Adjoining WORKSHOP/STORE. GARAGE: Power and light connected. LARGE AGRICULTURAL BUILDING: of sectional iron and corrugated construction and incorporating open fronted BARN with oil storage tank with power and light connected, adjoining BARN Attached GAVANISED IRON BARN: Opening into the adjoining paddocks. Further adjoining BARN of sectional iron and timber slated construction, ideal as a machinery/implement barn with space for tractors, lorries etc. Gates to front and large full height door to accommodate lorry or large vehicles at rear. These buildings have potential for agricultural use, or could be adapted to form 'American' style stabling or other uses subject to any necessary consents.

From the driveway, there is gated access to the land, which lies within three main paddock enclosures. Adjoining the driveway with gated access is an area that formally housed a barn and has a large concrete base/apron ideal as a hardstanding for large number of vehicles or indeed a base for further buildings. Adjoining is a small paddock with access from the driveway. The remainder of the land lies in two large paddock enclosures, having access from the main barns and bordered by hedge and fencing. The land is ideal for those with equestrian interests or indeed for general stock grazing. To the rear of the house is a good sized garden, primarily laid to lawn with a variety of trees, shrubs and plants. Further picket fenced vegetable/flower garden with raised beds. There are two ponds and a paved patio off the garden room, offering an attractive aspect over the gardens to the hills of Dartmoor. Adjoining the garden is an area of woodland, providing a delightful natural habitat for wildlife and incorporating a further natural pond. The gardens and grounds total approximately 8.6 acres.
