Folly Lane, Monmouthshire NP4 8TS

Additional out buildings
Double car port
Beautifully maintained grounds

Welcome to CoeditheL, a stunning cottage believed to date back to the 1600s, nestled in the picturesque Monmouthshire countryside. Set on approximately 5 acres of lush land, this property has been lovingly maintained and modernised by the current owners. CoeditheL, an unlisted farmhouse, offers a perfect blend of historic charm and modern conveniences, making it an ideal family home.

Situated within the breathtaking Brecon Beacons National Park, CoeditheL boasts an abundance of wildlife, beautiful meadows, and natural springs and streams. The expansive grounds offer great potential for equestrian enthusiasts, providing ample space for stables and riding areas.

Inside, the cottage features spacious living areas with exposed beams, cosy fireplaces, and modern amenities, ensuring comfort and convenience. The mature organic gardens and charming orchard add to the property's allure, offering a serene and private retreat. Despite its private countryside location, CoeditheL is a short drive away from local schools and amenities, ensuring easy access to daily necessities. Additionally, the property's proximity to connecting roads provides convenient access to the M4 corridor, making commuting and travel straightforward.

From the lounge, you have access to a period spiral stone staircase that ascends to the upper floor, where you will find three well-appointed bedrooms. Bedroom two and three include a Jack and Jill ensuite, providing convenience, along with a stylish bathroom for the principal bedroom that benefits from a free standing bath and separate shower cubical.

Continuing on the ground floor, a generously sized utility room, complete with its own log burner, adds to the home's functionality.

This versatile space provides ample storage and workspace, with access to a downstairs boot room and downstairs WC for added convenience. A staircase off the boot room leads to the fourth bedroom, currently utilised as an office space, offering a quiet and private area for work or study.

Coedithel combines historic charm with modern comforts, creating a welcoming and practical family home. Each room has been thoughtfully designed to provide a blend of old and new, making this cottage a truly unique and delightful place to live.

STEP OUTSIDE

Step outside Coedithel, a beautiful property set on approximately 5 acres of land. This idyllic plot is a haven of natural beauty, adorned with mature trees, meadows, and vibrant streams that weave through the landscape. The current owners have ensured that the grounds remained a picturesque retreat within the Brecon Beacons National Park. On the property, you'll find an Oak framed barn, completed by the owners in 2016. This boasts a spacious bedroom and an en suite.

The property includes a detached workshop with wood burning stove and a further stone garden store, providing ample space for all your needs. A kitchen garden offers the opportunity to grow your own produce, adding to the property's self-sufficient appeal. As you explore the grounds, enjoy the natural landscape and distant views over the surrounding countryside, offering a serene and inspiring backdrop.

A public footpath crosses a meadow on the land, inviting you to explore the stunning landscape and connect with nature. Whether you're strolling through the meadows, enjoying the tranquillity of the streams, or simply taking in the panoramic vistas, Coedithel's outdoor spaces offer endless possibilities for relaxation and recreation.
