- Delightful Conservation Area Location
- Plot 1,460 sq. m (0.36 Acre) or Thereabouts

A 1/3 acre building plot with Planning in Principle granted for residential development of 1 dwelling. The plot is situated in a mature landscaped setting within the village conservation area. The site is land that was recently part of the garden of Ivy House Farm on Wood Lane in the village of Egmanton. To the north lies the courtyard development at Church View, to the west lies the garden of Glebe Farmhouse, and to the south is Ivy House Farm and beyond lies Southfields including the large equestrian building. Wood Lane is a public bridleway and highway, unadopted and maintained at public expense.

The proposed site has a depth of between 33m and 55m and a width around 31m across the majority of the site.

The village of Egmanton is an attractive place to live. There is a variety of period property, farmhouses and small scale development within the village. Tuxford (2 miles) provides an excellent range of amenities including primary school, the Tuxford Academy secondary school, local shops, a co-operative supermarket, social and transport facilities. Access points to the A1 trunk road north and south are within 2 miles approximately. Newark on Trent is 14 miles to the south on the main East Coast railway line. Train services from Newark Northgate to London King's Cross are approximately 75 minutes.
