General Remarks

Enjoying a delightful and accessible position within the picturesque hamlet of Pentredwr and occupying gardens and grounds extending to approximately 0.3 of an acre, this 19th century former public house now comprises a spacious and comfortable four bedroom and three reception room family home. The property is constructed in a traditional style of stone and offers many interesting internal features including beams and fireplaces. The approach to the house is from an ample parking and turning driveway, which leads to an over-sized garage with out-offices. The whole enjoys an aspect to the surrounding countryside and a viewing appointment is advised to appreciate this.

Pentredwr: Pentredwr is situated within the beautiful Dee Valley, offering scenic views and excellent access to the surrounding countryside. It is only a few miles from Llangollen and all its amenities. The village developed during the 19th century when the Berwyn Slate Quarry was a major employer and is known for its strong community spirit. The village boasts a Community Centre, Hwb Pentredwr, which was formerly Pentredwr School and is now a hub for local activities.
