DESCRIPTION

Ferndale was probably built in around 1910 of brick under a tiled roof and is fronted by a concrete car parking area. The house was extended and modernised by the current owner in the 1980's. Homes of this age naturally combine period details and quality of build and this is no exception. The house now needs some modernisation and updating and offers enormous potential to be developed and enhanced. There is a lovely flow of accommodation with two reception rooms, a large kitchen/breakfast room, three double bedrooms and a loft room.
