DESCRIPTION

Thornton House is an individually detached property constructed of brick with part rendered elevations under a slate roof. The house retains a wealth of original charm such as the parquet wood block flooring, stripped internal doors, picture rails, ceiling cornices and exposed beam ceilings. Over the past 30 years, the present vendor has undertaken some major improvements and renovation works particularly in the kitchen area with its breakfast area/sitting room, bathrooms and the creation of an Annexe towards the rear that comprises reception room, bedroom, dining/kitchen and bathroom/shower room with its own access. This is a superb opportunity for intergenerational living or could be an opportunity for a further income if so desired for a rental such as an Airbnb.

An internal inspection reveals two main reception rooms located towards the front with the principle one enjoying a dual aspect of the Westerly facing rear garden views. The kitchen takes full advantage of this with a sitting room overlooking the various patio areas, the ornamental pond, outside fireplace and large awning and established private garden and grounds offering the ideal seclusion.
