DESCRIPTION

6 Daisy Bank Crescent was built in the 1960's by Leonard Cork of brick under a tiled roof. It stands well back from the road, approached over a concrete an impregnated concrete drive.

It has been a much loved home for 24 years and is offered for sale with no ongoing chain. We acknowledge that modernisation is required and in many ways, it will be exciting for a future owner to put their own stamp on the property. The possibilities are extensive and it will be a hugely exciting property to be customised, adapted, enlarged and enhanced, subject to planning permission. Because of its location, size of garden and stunning views any improvements will be well worthwhile.

The large gardens are private, mature and established and with a nod to Snaffles the house possibly enjoys "the finest view in Audlem".

LOCATION & AMENITIES
