

Stockton Heath

Location

Situated south of Warrington town centre and the Manchester Ship Canal, this hugely popular village is surrounded by picturesque countryside. Located on what was once a Roman settlement, Stockton Heath has since been home to many notable residents, including film legend George Formby. Boasting an impressive selection of independent shops and boutiques as well as useful amenities including a supermarket and post office. There are a fine selection of restaurants and bars on the doorstep, offering either a relaxed setting or a more cosmopolitan night out. The village is popular for families, thanks to the number of parks within easy walking distance and outstanding local schools. It is also ideal for young professionals who benefit from the excellent amenities and transport connections.

Stockton Heath Ackers Road

A property of local importance, but not listed, this early nineteenth century double fronted cottage oozes charm and character, whilst requiring refurbishment. The grounds extend between Ackers Road upon where there is pedestrian access and Chester Road upon where there is vehicular access. The gardens are predominantly to the front by means of extensive gardens with mature trees and bushes providing a degree of privacy.

Occupying a substantial corner plot, boasting period features, this rendered property believed to be of the 'Regency' era offers great potential with accommodation comprising a 'chapel' like porch with a vaulted ceiling, entrance hall with an oak staircase, lounge with a feature fireplace, dining room, dining kitchen, rear vestibule, bathroom and a rear porch. The first floor includes a generous landing, inner lobby, main bedroom, two further bedrooms and a box room, all complete with a further bathroom. Externally, to the rear, there is a low maintenance cottage style garden with artificial grass, crazy paving, fruit trees, mature shrubbery complemented by a boiler room, laundry, storage and a WC. The front and side, as previously mentioned include the gardens and off road parking.
