SITUATION

The land is located in north Devon between South Molton and Chulmleigh, a short distance to the south of Garland Cross. The village of Kings Nympton lies 2.6 miles to the north-west whilst the town of Chulmleigh is approximately 2.7 miles to the south-west. The market town of South Molton is 6.3 miles to the north and Barnstaple is within 17 miles of the land.

DESCRIPTION

The land totals approximately 63.96 acres (25.88 hectares) and comprises a gently sloping block of arable and pasture land and a small area of woodland which have a south-west facing aspect.

There is direct access from the public highway and the land lies at between 180 and 200 metres above sea level with stunning views from the northernmost field over the Taw Valley and beyond.

There are four enclosures which total approximately 59.52 acres and are currently used for grazing cattle, though these fields have also been used to grow a mixture of grass and whole-crop silage. The soils are described as slowly permeable seasonally wet acid loamy and clayey soils and field boundaries are a mixture of mature hedgerows and livestock fencing.

There are two areas of woodland (totalling approximately 4.44 acres), one of which is a copse and the other a band of woodland which adjoins the stream on the western boundary. In addition there is a level compound used for storing silage bales.

SERVICES

There are no mains services connected. There is a natural water supply from a stream which flows along the south-western boundary.
