DESCRIPTION

This fabulous barn has been imaginatively and sympathetically converted to a high specification and with an emphasis of eco friendly features. The period shell presents elevations of lime render and exposed stone with triple glazed passive haus approved windows with slate cills and solid oak lintels, all beneath a slate roof and with galvanised gutters and down pipes. The interior is an entirely air tight, low carbon, passive, contemporary home with a grey theme which follows through from the newly added, double glazed conservatory, kitchen and bathrooms to the wardrobes and fitted carpets (first floor). A particular feature is the mechanical ventilation with heat recovery [mvhr] system, CCTV cameras have been strategically placed externally, the electric entrance gates are automatically controlled and there is an Architects Certificate in place. The barn is complemented by a substantial double garage on a concrete base with Douglas fir frame with ornate staddle stone supports, there is a brick base, timber clad frame beneath a slate roof which incorporates a very useful storage room with staircase, water, power and light connected. This building is almost too good to accommodate vehicles and is considered to have potential for a variety of other uses such as conversion to studio, offices, leisure etc subject to any necessary planning permission. All in all Highfield Barn is one of those properties which is often sought, but seldom found and of which an internal inspection is strongly advised. The property is accessed from the lane via double gated entrance and tarmac forecourt initially shared, there are then private electrically operated galvanised and coated gates on brick pillars with very attractive stone and rendered wall flanking either side. Within the wall is separate pedestrian gate which leads to the rear of the barn where there is an attractive paved courtyard with stone and brick retaining walls and electrical sockets with hedge then screening the property from the road. To the front of the barn there is an extensive gravelled driveway which sweeps between the property and the garage on to the right of the barn where there is ample parking and turning space. To the right and rear of the property is a detached workshop as well as a separate garden store with power & light.. There is ample scope to extend the main barn, subject to planning permission. The property backs onto an equestrian facility understood to specialise in racehorses. The boundaries are fenced with young laurel hedges planted below. There is some willow screening.
