PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

This imposing double fronted stone built character house, remarkably spacious, is a former public house and offers all of the space and personality you would expect.

Offered with no onward chain, this unique property is of such a size it lends itself to a number of uses including large family house, holiday let or even house with attached dependent relative accommodation. There are parts of the property which would benefit from some modernising and refurbishment.

The floorplan comprises: thirty seven feet open plan living room with inglenook fireplaces at both ends of the room, one with a cast iron wood burning stove; twenty one feet breakfasting kitchen with hidden hatch giving access to usable cellar; twenty four feet by fifteen feet first floor drawing room; master bedroom with feature exposed stone walls, vaulted ceiling with quadruple skylight windows and lavish en-suite bathroom with ultra modern period themed white suite incorporating free standing roll top bath; three further bedrooms and well appointed shower room.

Particularly exciting is the additional unused ground floor accommodation which is prime for development, this comprises: 23 feet by twelve feet integral garage with arched double doorway leading to a store room at the rear measuring eighteen feet by twelve feet which, in turn, leads to a utility room. Occupying a prominent corner plot in the centre of this most desirable village, viewing is imperative to appreciate what is on offer.

Wark provides all of the usual village amenities including village shop, public houses, sports facilities and schooling. Road links are good to the North and South to Bellingham, Scottish Borders, Hexham and Newcastle. Wark is a popular and well thought of Northumbrian village and will make a superb home for the buyer who wins this wonderful property.
