Summary of Accommodation

About the property

To the edge of St Brides Major Village, no. 59 Lon Yr Eglwys is a detached property, significantly transformed in more recent years to provide a quite superb, understated and immaculate family home. Viewing is essential to appreciate the quality of finish and the scope it offer. A sheltered courtyard area to the side elevation leads to the principal doorway and through to an entrance hall with marbled tiles extending into the ground floor bathroom, bedrooms, kitchen-dining room and utility room. From here, a staircase with solid wood treads leads to the first floor bedrooms while doors lead into the family lounge and to the ground floor bathroom; two steps lead up to an inner hallway off which are two bedrooms, a kitchen-diner and a utility room. Looking over the front of the property is a great sized family lounge with adjacent study area. It features broad picture windows over looking Lon yr Eglwys and the village church. Both the lounge and the study have wooden flooring; the study is fitted with a great range of bookcases and display shelves. The contemporary bathroom to the ground floor includes a bath and separate walk-in shower cubicle. Two ground floor bedrooms to this level are both double rooms, one with window to the side elevation and a larger double room with broad picture window looking to the rear garden. A dining area is accessed from the hallway and has French doors looking out over, and opening onto, a paved patio with garden beyond. An open arch links the breakfast room to a wonderfully understated, simple kitchen with oak units with white quartz surfaces atop. A broad window from here looks over the front courtyard garden onto the village while, to the rear, a second window looks out over the garden. Appliances, where fitted, are to remain and include 5-burner gas hob, electric oven, wine fridge and fully integrated fridge, freezer and dishwasher. The adjacent utility room has space/plumbing for a washing machine and further storage.

To the first floor are two double bedrooms to the front and rear of the property respectively. The front bedroom is a good double with its own store cupboard and en suite WC with hand basin. The second bedroom to the rear is a similarly generous double with broad, tall window to the apex of the roof with

Garden & Grounds

Located to the church end of Lon yr Eglwys, no. 59 has a wide paved parking area fronting the property. Flagstone-paved steps lead up from here to a sheltered courtyard garden from which there are views back towards the church; the flagstone paving continues to the front of the property and runs onto a path to the side, leading through a gated entrance into the rear garden. The rear garden itself is wonderfully sheltered and private, including a flagstone paved terrace accessed directly from the kitchen. Steps lead up from here to a larger area of lawn running to a low level, stone built rear boundary wall with fields and farmland beyond. To one corner of the garden is a neat paved terrace, perfectly positioned to catch the afternoon and evening sun.

Total area: approx. 135.0 sq. metres (1452.6 sq. feet)
