Agent/Owners notes

The owners will create the road to the plot and the surface will be Type1. They will be responsible for the demolition of the building to create the access road. They will lay the ducting for the services and the purchaser will negotiate connection with the respective utilities. The ducting will be laid from the demolished building to the boundary of the site and we will create the opening to the site. To comply with the latest surface water regulations a "soakaway" will need to be outwith the plot in the owners ground which their contractor would install when the road is being created. The purchaser will be liable for these costs. The sewage pipe runs parallel to the north edge of the boundary so no permission will be required to connect to this as the pipe services the two properties. We will not be creating any access to a telephone line.
