Description:

Tuck Mill Barn offers a rare rural development opportunity. A larger acreage may be available within the area outlined in blue on the enclosed plan by separate negotiation. The property offers multi-generational living.

Barn with Full Planning Consent:

The barn known as Tuck Mill Barn is a portal framed agricultural barn, constructed from a mixture of breeze blocks on the lower half and corrugated iron above, with a corrugated iron roof and is open on one side. The barn is located in a hollow in the landscape, behind a band of mature trees. The existing barn benefits from full planning consent for conversion into a four-bed dwelling, with open plan kitchen/dining and living room.
