GENERAL REMARKS AND LOCATION

In many respects this property epitomises the perfect Roseland Cottage. Pedlars is a very attractive building with mellow stone elevations highlighted by massive granite quoins and brick window arches and small pane casement windows. It is at the end of a row of just three cottages and set alongside the minor road passing through Ruan Laniorne, facing south and with a lovely garden stretching to the edge of the small river running into the tidal creek. It has been a cherished holiday retreat for the current owners for many years and is now reluctantly offered for sale due to failing health. The cottage has been well maintained over the years and comprises a large sitting room and kitchen on the ground floor with 2 bedrooms and a bathroom above. There are typical character features including beamed ceilings, exposed stone and also a clome oven. Heating includes a wood burner in the sitting room and several electric storage radiators. Close to the cottage there is a superb detached garage with forecourt parking.

Ruan Laniorne is a village about two and a half miles west of Tregony and as with most of the Roseland Peninsula countryside has been designated as an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and the saltings of the silted creek which are a feature of the village have been declared an SSSI and are a nature reserve. There is a public house and church within the village and a further range of local facilities at nearby Tregony including primary and secondary schools. The coast of Pendower is about three to four miles away and many of the scenic locations of the Roseland Peninsula are within easy reach. The city of Truro with its Cathedral and fine shopping centre is about eleven miles and St. Austell a similar distance.

The property is available FULLY FURNISHED by negotiation and in greater detail the accommodation comprises (all measurements are approximate):
