GENERAL COMMENTS

Situated in a delightful rural hamlet, just in land from the sea is this charming Grade II Listed detached cottage. Set in attractive secluded gardens extending to approximately quarter of an acre, the whole property enjoys complete privacy, peace and quiet. The property is built of stone and cob under a thatched roof and is one of a small group of very old cottages tucked away deep in the Roseland countryside yet just over a mile from the south Cornish coast. The cottage is full of charm and character with well proportioned rooms and good head height. It is beautifully presented with a wealth of period features, including beamed ceilings, inglenook fireplaces with clome oven, bespoke custom-made internal oak doors, ash staircase and exposed wood flooring on the first floor. The accommodation includes sitting room, dining room, kitchen/breakfast room with fitted appliances, utility and cloakroom. The first floor includes three double bedrooms and bathroom with bath and separate shower cubicle.

Outside are fabulous enclosed gardens that surround the property and enjoy sun all day. They are virtually level with many mature shrubs and plants that provide colour and interest, lawns and a large terrace provides plenty of sitting out space. They are incredibly private. A driveway provides parking for several cars and there is a substantial detached double garage with adjoining garden storeroom.

The cottage is being sold with no chain. An internal viewing is essential.

LOCATION

The Roseland peninsula is an area recognised as being of outstanding natural beauty and there are many scenic attractions both inland and along the coast. The hamlet of Treworthal is approached by minor country roads almost mid way between Philleigh and Ruanhighlanes, about one and a half miles from Pendower beach and two miles from Porthcurnick. The nearest village of any size is Portscatho and Gerrans, these include an excellent local shop, cafes and restaurants including The Boathouse, two public houses and even a doctors surgery. The Hidden Hut and a Michelin star restaurant at The Driftwood is in nearby Rosevine. The well known village of St. Mawes is approximately seven miles away and this has an all year round passenger ferry to Falmouth with Truro and St. Austell being each about sixteen miles away. For those interested in sailing there are moorings on the Percuil river and this gives easy access to the sailing waters of Carrick Roads in the Fal Estuary.

In greater detail the accommodation comprises (all measurements are approximate):
