GENERAL COMMENTS

Highlands comprises a very attractive detached Grade II Listed thatched farmhouse, excellent range of outbuildings and just over five acres of land divided into several useful fields. It is located in a very convenient setting on the edge of Blackwater and within close proximity of the north Cornish coast at St Agnes. The house is located in a surprisingly quiet yet elevated setting at the end of a long entrance drive and is surrounded by its own land. The whole property enjoys far reaching rural views over the surrounding countryside across mid Cornwall to Carn Brae and beyond. Originally three small cottages, it has been amalgamated into this one large dwelling with house and self contained annex. The house itself has undergone complete renovation during our clients ownership in a very sympathetic way including a large amount of lime rendering, bespoke wooden casement windows with modern additions including a bespoke hand crafted kitchen by Treyone with range cooker. All of the rooms are of a good proportion and most enjoy the fabulous views. There are two staircases which is a nice feature. The main house has five bedrooms, bathroom and second w.c on the first floor with spacious hallway, kitchen/breakfast room, dining room, sitting room, snug, utility, and shower room downstairs. Attached to the house is a self contained annexe that has independent access but also an interconnecting door. The ground floor includes a light, open plan kitchen, dining and sitting room, shower room and on the first floor is a large double bedroom.

The house is surrounded by large mature gardens that enjoy a sunny aspect and far reaching views, they are very private with lawns and many interesting shrubs, plants and trees. There is a range of outbuildings including a double car port, piggery, two stables and large corrugated iron barn. The land extends to over five acres and is divided into six enclosed paddocks which are fenced and ideal for hobby farming and equestrian enthusiasts. An internal viewing is essential.

LOCATION

The village of Blackwater is situated approximately six miles to the west of Truro, three miles from St. Agnes and the North Cornish Coast and is easily accessible from the main A30 for quick commuting throughout the county and further afield. The philanthropist Passmore

Edwards was born in the village. He funded the nearby Blackwater Institute which serves as a hub for the thriving local community, there is a pub, village shop and post office. The City of Truro has a wider range of day to day facilities including banks, building societies, shops, schools, public houses and a main line rail station.

GARDENS

The gardens are located at the rear and side of the house and enjoy sun all day and fabulous far reaching views. A side patio accessed from the sitting room provides sitting out space and a westerly aspect so enjoys the last of the days sun and amazing views. There is huge scope to erect a conservatory here subject to planning. The gardens are mainly lawn and a crazy paved pathway meanders through the rear garden to the outbuildings and house with access into the kitchen, dining room and snug. A five bar gate leads to a rear lane that provides a second access into the property with gates into the field. There is a greenhouse, outside tap and lights. The annexe has a rear patio accessed from its living room and a path leads around the side to a further enclosed garden and onto the front.

LAND AND OUTBUILDINGS

The land is divided into six paddocks enclosed within natural hedge boundaries that are well fenced for livestock. The land is currently grazed and mature pasture that is ideal for hobby farming and equestrian use. There are no public rights of way through the property. The outbuildings are located at the rear of the house and accessed from the garden with direct access into the fields. They include two stables approximately 11'6 x 10'6 and 11'8 x 9'9 with light and power and stable doors. Adjoining the stables is a stone store with light measuring 13'9 x 7'10. Along the rear of the outbuildings is an enclosed concrete yard/holding area. Within the front field and accessed from the secondary access lane is a corrugated iron shed that is in need of repair but offers further potential.
