GENERAL COMMENTS

Creek Cottage is a very attractive end of terrace cottage located in a quiet position within the favoured creekside village of Devoran. It has handsome stone elevations, modern double glazed sliding sash windows in the front with brick arches that are very attractive. The cottage is very well presented and full of character features including high exposed open beam ceilings, wood and slate flooring and a stone fireplace in the sitting room with woodburner.

The cottage has versatile accommodation with two bedrooms and the potential for a separate annexe at the rear. Planning permission was previously granted to incorporate the annexe into the main house extended at the side creating a much larger house with lots of living accommodation. The cottage occupies a large mature plot and is virtually hidden from Greenbank Road with front and rear gardens. The accommodation includes two bedrooms and bathroom on the first floor with spacious sitting room, kitchen/dining room and large conservatory overlooking the front gardens. There is mains gas fired central heating and double glazing.

The outbuilding/annexe is in need of refurbishment but offers huge potential, it is currently used for storage. It could be perfect for those looking to work from home or needing accommodation for a dependent relative as it is self contained with reception room and shower room with w.c. There are private front and rear gardens with generous lawns, mature shrubs and plants and useful garden shed. A side path provides rear access. Creek Cottage is sold with no onward chain.

Devoran lies about five miles south west of Truro, just off the A39 Truro to Falmouth road and at the head of the Restronguet Creek which is a tributary of the river Fal. The area is well known for its scenic attractions and although the creek is tidal there are many walkways in the area including the "tramway" along the edge of the creek to Point and
