GENERAL REMARKS AND LOCATION

This property is set in a shallow wooded valley, seemingly "miles from anywhere" but only a couple of miles or thereabouts from the built environs of Truro. It is a tranquil haven, totally unique in its character and context and a very desirable place to live. Although once part of the nearby Tea Rooms and Water Gardens (now "The Cornish Barista") the house is well away from any commercial activity and enjoys a good level of quiet detachment and privacy.

The ambience of the property is essentially rural but it is not isolated and the nearest community of any size is the village of Shortlanesend. Here there is a local shop with post office and bakery, pub, Methodist church and also a primary school. The city of Truro with its Cathedral and fine shopping centre is within a few minutes driving distance and the village is also within two miles of the A30 and hence easily accessible to all parts of the county. North and south cornish coats are both within easy reach.

THE HOUSE

This comprises a large contemporary building strategically positioned to enjoy the lovely views and with mostly south and westerly aspects. It is a large family size property affording an overwhelming feel of light and space and with some rooms having floor to ceiling glass to maximise the impact of the surroundings. As to be expected all windows are double glazed, there is a comprehensive system of oil-fired central heating which is assisted by solar panels.

PLEASE NOTE: the house has been rented for a number of years and hence some refurbishment is required. Some of the window seals have blown, the kitchen fittings would merit replacement and total redecoration is necessary. However the work required is thought to be very superficial and the house can easily be restored to its former pristine condition.

In greater detail the accommodation comprises (all measurements are approximate):
