GENERAL COMMENTS

Ivy Cottage is a beautifully presented semi detached period cottage located on the edge of the picturesque harbourside village of Portloe on the Roseland Peninsula. The cottage is surprisingly spacious with well proportioned rooms and large windows that afford plenty of natural light. There are sea views from the master bedroom, third bedroom, garden room and sun terrace. In very recent years, the property has been completely renovated by an interior designer to an exceptionally high standard and in a very sympathetic way retaining character with modern additions. A feature of the cottage is the quality Neptune kitchen with solid wood units, granite worktops and integrated appliances, the bathrooms are to the highest standard with Burlington sanitary-ware. The majority of the ground floor has natural stone tiled floors whilst the first floor has durable sisal style carpet. The accommodation includes three bedrooms and luxurious bathroom on the first floor, the master has an en suite shower room. On the ground floor is a very spacious sitting room with woodburner, dining room, kitchen, garden room, large entrance hall, utility and shower room. Most of the rooms have bespoke plantation shutters and cast iron style radiators. The gardens of Ivy Cottage are delightful and are a feature of the property. They have been imaginatively landscaped by a garden designer and are very private and well stocked with many unusual plants and has a truly tropical feel. The whole property is exceptional and must be viewed internally to fully appreciate.

LOCATION

Portloe is one of the jewels of the Roseland Peninsula. It has seen little or no extensive development in modern times and still retains its traditional atmosphere with clusters of old stone cottages set in a cleft of the cliff and descending to a delightful small harbour still used by local fishermen. Local facilities include a pub, hotel and church but there is also a bus service throughout the year to St Austell and Truro city centre. The larger village of Veryan known for its picturesque round houses built in the 19th Century by a clergymen is about two miles away. Here there is a pub, church, primary school, post office/general store as well as a social/sports hall with indoor bowls and tennis courts. Much of the land in the area is owned and protected by the National Trust and the clifftop walks in the immediate vicinity are exceptional. The south coastal path is within a two minute walk with stunning views. The nearby Carne and Pendower beaches are also favourites with locals and visitors alike and the city of Truro with its Cathedral and fine shopping centre is about twelve miles away.

In greater detail the accommodation comprises (all measurements are approximate):
