GENERAL COMMENTS

Penare House is a truly exceptional and beautifully presented Grade II Listed village residence, offering an abundance of character and charm throughout. Finished to an impeccable standard, the property is in superb decorative order and provides spacious, light-filled accommodation extending to approximately 2,500 sq ft. Set within a short walk of both primary and secondary schools as well as the local facilities, the position of Penare House is excellent.

This handsome double-fronted home is arranged over two floors and features generously proportioned rooms throughout. A wide entrance hall, with flagstone flooring and panelled walls, leads to two impressive reception rooms at the front and the stunning kitchen to the rear. The principal lounge boasts a feature fireplace, while the formal dining room is centred around an inglenook fireplace.

The kitchen is a standout feature of the home — beautifully appointed with a classic Aga, high-quality appliances, a part-vaulted ceiling with skylights, and slate flooring. Adjacent is a cosy snug, a useful shower room with w.c., and steps leading to an outstanding conservatory that opens directly onto the rear garden, creating a seamless flow between indoor and outdoor living.

Upstairs, the generous master bedroom includes fitted wardrobes and a well-appointed en suite. There are three further double bedrooms and a beautifully finished family bathroom, completing the elegant and thoughtfully designed accommodation.

The rear gardens are level, private, and enjoy a sunny aspect for most of the day. A wide paved terrace provides an ideal space for outdoor dining and entertaining, while the expansive lawn is perfect for children and pets — fully enclosed and secure. The garden wraps around in an L-shape towards the rear access, where a detached garage and workshop can be found. This area offers excellent potential for further off-road parking or future development, subject to the necessary consents.

In all, Penare House is a truly impressive and rare home that must be viewed to fully appreciate its scale, quality, and character — a unique opportunity not to be missed.

LISTING

This charming period house likely dates back to the 18th century and retains many original features. Built from traditional stone with a classic slate roof and a brick chimney, it has a two-storey layout with two main rooms and a central hallway. The front of the house has five attractive sash windows, giving it a grand appearance. The front door is a classic panel design, and the sash windows are a real feature. A rear wing, also from the 18th century, extends from the back of the property. Inside, many period details remain intact, including a lovely staircase, original panel doors, decorative wooden panelling, and exposed ceiling beams. It is believed that the eaves were raised in the 19th century, possibly to increase ceiling height. The property likely to have been listed for its historical character and its contribution to the charm of the surrounding area.

LOCATION

Tregony is a thriving community, sometimes referred to as the "gateway to the Roseland" offering a post office, shop, pub, Churches and both primary and secondary schools are within a short walk. The village also has the benefit of a regular bus service to Truro and the Roseland whilst the harbourside villages of Portloe and Portscatho are each about four and seven miles distant, and St Mawes is about 11 miles to the south. The beaches along the south coast are all within close proximity including Carne, Pendower, Towan, Portholland and Caerhayes. Truro is renowned for its excellent shopping centre, fine selection of restaurants, bars, private and state schools and main line railway link to London (Paddington). AGENTS REMARKS

It's not often a home like Penare House comes to the market — this is a truly outstanding and remarkably well-preserved village property, full of charm and character. From the moment you walk through the front door into the flagstone-floored hallway, you get a sense of the history and craftsmanship that has gone into this home over the centuries.

What really stands out to me is the balance between its period elegance and the quality of the modern presentation — every room is beautifully finished, yet the original features like sash windows, exposed beams, and panelled doors have all been thoughtfully retained. The kitchen is a particular highlight, especially with the Aga and the vaulted ceiling, and the conservatory flowing into the garden creates a real sense of connection between the house and its outdoor space.

The layout works brilliantly for family living, with generous bedrooms upstairs and flexible spaces downstairs that could suit a range of lifestyles. And the location is hard to beat — Tregony is a thriving and well-connected village, and being just a short drive from both Truro and the Roseland Peninsula means you're never far from the coast or the city.

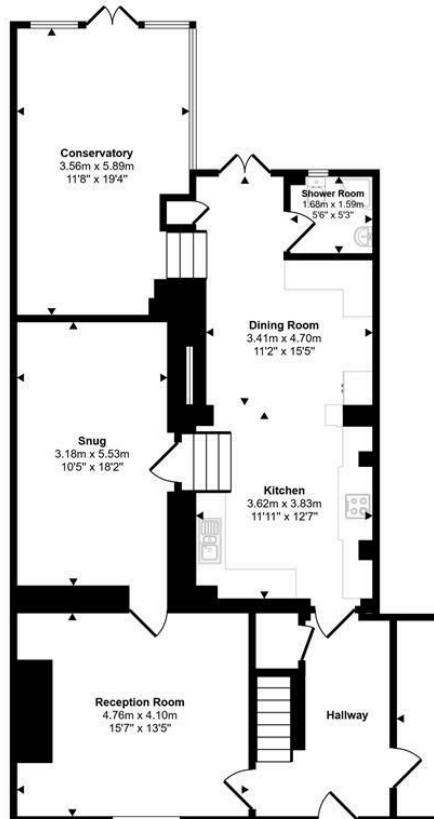

This is one of those rare homes that really has presence — both inside and out — and I'd highly recommend arranging a viewing to appreciate just how special it is.
