Front of the home

Accessed via a long drive, there is an off-road graveled parking area for up to four vehicles to park comfortably. A picket fence with timber gate opens into the front garden. Running along the front of the home is a wide dining patio area with plenty of space for summer barbecues too. It is a pretty brick and tile home surrounded by greenery in all directions. The two tier lawn at the front leads to a timber fence, behind which is discreetly positioned the oil tank. To the right of the home, the patio flows to a lawn on the south side of the home. A gate leads through to the well-stocked cottage garden, with raised flower beds and a shed, plus tremendous far reaching views from this plateau. A privet hedge forms the southern boundary. In front of the home, a driveway leads to the equestrian area 50 yards away (much more on that later!).

This splendid open-plan living space has a vaulted ceiling with exposed oak trusses. With oak flooring, crisp white decor and doors and windows to the east, south and west, this room is bathed in natural light. There are lovely views out to open countryside - particularly through the south-facing timber-framed glass door.

The beautiful country-style kitchen perfectly fits the style of the home. The central island has a solid oak worktop with breakfast bar and four deep cabinets. On the left, the long sweeping L-shaped worktop provides plenty of space for food preparation and positioning small appliances. In the centre is an integrated Lamona electric oven with four-ring hob and brushed chrome extractor fan above. There is also an integrated large and deep Belfast sink with chrome mixer tap. Beneath the worktop is an integrated dishwasher and washing machine, together with several other cabinets and useful deep pan drawers.

Above the worktop is some shelving and, overhead, is a large Velux window. To the right, beside a low level east-facing window and space for a free-standing fridge-freezer. At the top of the stairs is a radiator.
