

TULLOCHGORM | ARISAIG | PH39 4NJ

GUIDE PRICE: £580,000

Enjoying a premium position, nestled in the desirable coastal village of Arisaig, with stunning views over Arisaig Bay and the sea towards the Isle of Eigg, Tullochgorm forms an imposing, detached period dwellinghouse, set in private, garden grounds. Dating back to the early 1930's, the property has been sympathetically refurbished and modernised throughout in recent years, creating a superb and impressive property. Full of character, charm and original features, including plaster corning, wooden panelled doors and wooden staircases, Tullochgorm benefits from double glazing, oil fired central heating, plus an open fire in the formal lounge. In excellent order, the property offers deceptively spacious accommodation, conveniently arranged over three floors, is neutrally decorated and beautifully presented, providing a calm and comfortable home. The stunning public rooms and striking open-plan sitting room and study on the top floor, are most attractive features. The generous grounds further complement the property itself, providing generous private parking, with the addition of planning permission to erect a detached property for letting purposes. Due to the size and location, this flexible property would be ideally suited as a wonderful permanent home, an idyllic holiday retreat, or an investment opportunity as a self-catering prospect, as currently used, with short term licence in place.

Arisaig is a popular West Coast village, situated on the road between Fort William and Mallaig, "The Road to the Isles". With its coastal situation, it is an ideal location from which to explore this extremely attractive part of the Highlands and Inner Isles. The village itself has a bustling marina, hotel, restaurants, shop, post office, two churches, primary school, with further facilities available at Mallaig, including a secondary school, and Fort William - to which there is a link by both road and rail.
