THE STABLES

The Stables is the final phase of The Avada Homes 'Four Miles' Development and, in some ways, it is almost a case of saving the best until last. Emulating the style, grandeur and proportions of a stable block that befit stately homes such as Holkham or Houghton Hall, and it is, quite simply, a stunning building.

Arranged around a central courtyard that features a communal sunken garden, there are a total of 12 attractive and immaculately finished properties. With the open countryside that surround the Four Miles development, the position of The Stables, at the north western end of this sympathetic extension to the village, means that they all enjoy rural views to varying degrees.

As is traditional with Avada, nine of these properties are 'upside down' homes with the living and entertaining space on the first floor, where best to enjoy those sweeping vistas that the county is known for, whilst the other three are more traditionally arranged with the living space on the ground floor.

PLOTS 33, 38, 39, 40, 44

At either end and forming the corner homes of the Eastern Wing, there are two three bed homes, Plots 34 and 38. These share the same footprints but the southern corner has the living space on the ground floor whilst the northern corner has it on the first floor so as to enjoy not only the countryside views, but also those of the coast just four miles distant. In the Northern and Southern wings of The Stables there are four homes known as The Gatehouse Properties. Situated on either side of the archways giving access into the central courtyard, and designed to reflect where the carriages of old would have entered and exited the stable block, all four are two bedroom homes with the accommodation on the ground floor and the open plan living space above. Plots 39 and 40 are astride the northern archway and have those wonderful countryside and coastal views, whilst Plots 33 and 44 flank the southern arch and benefit from the natural light that south facing properties enjoys.

DOCKING

Docking is arguably one of Norfolk's best hideaways, just four miles from the sea yet a comfortable breeze away from the coastal crowds in the heat of summer, and within a comfortable drive of the market towns of Fakenham and elegant Holt.

Dating back to Saxon times, Docking is one of Norfolk's highest points at 272ft and was once known as 'Dry Docking', because of its lack of drinking water. A well was sunk in the village in the 18th century and residents paid a farthing per bucket until a mains supply was installed in 1936. The small village played a key role in World War II when the RAF Docking airfield operated between 1940-1958, and nearby Docking Hall housed serving actors Richard Burton, Robert Hardy and Warren Mitchell during this time.

Today, a strong village community exists and Docking has a thriving nursery and primary school, and the heart-warming sound of young children enjoying playtime often echoes in the surrounding streets, as it has for centuries. Well-served, Docking also has a GP surgery, village store with Post Office, playing field, tennis court and bowling green, along with a popular fish and chip shop and good local, The Railway Inn.
