About the property

A traditional gable fronted detached four double bedroom house, built circa 1958, and occupying a truly delightful position fronting a small hamlet of detached houses within the rural village of Peterstone Wentloog. This very spacious and well designed double fronted property is set back with a deep level front garden, a long private drive which leads to an integral 19 FT garage, whilst the large and lovely level rear gardens back onto beautiful green fields, with uninterrupted views across open countryside. The picturesque and pretty village of Peterstone Wentloog is a small village to the south west of the city of Newport, and North east of the City Of Cardiff. Its a coastal location, just six miles from Newport and 7.5 miles from Cardiff. It lies in the community parish of Wentloog and electoral ward of Marshfield. The 'Wales Coastal Footpath' runs along the sea wall and leads to a wooden screen that gives an impressive view of the wildlife on the estuary without disturbing them. This place is internationally important for the birds that use the foreshore, and cattle and horses roam freely along this stretch of coast, including on the lower path and on top of the sea wall. This very impressive and versatile home benefits stunning views that extend towards the former Parish Church of Wentloog, and would be ideal for a growing family or a couple seeking a tranquil location within easy access to local amenities including an exit onto the M4 off the A 48.
