General Description

EPC Rating: F24

Rhyd y Groes is a detached traditional Georgian two bedroom farm cottage with adjoining barns/outbuildings, set in its own grounds with river frontage. Dating from the 19th Century, with original features, including inglenook fireplace and bread oven, the house was sympathetically restored in 2011, using traditional lime plaster methods. It is remotely located in the Allt Rhyd y Groes National Nature Reserve, part of the Cwm Doethie/Mynydd Mallaen, a designated Celtic rainforest area and RSPB reserve, and on the Cambrian Way.

Property Description

A detached traditional Georgian two bedroom farm cottage with adjoining outbuildings set in its own grounds with river frontage. The house was sympathetically restored in 2011 and includes an inglenook fireplace and bread oven. This property is off grid with Rayburn solid fuel central heating, automatic solar power and diesel back up generator system and landline/broadband. Internally traditionally lime plastered and with hardwood sash windows throughout. The large garden contains several mature deciduous trees, with deep river swimming.

Ideal for those looking to experience untouched nature, the reserve is home to large populations of woodland birds and in late spring, extensive pastures of bluebells. The house is located in an SSSI area, adjacent to several sites of interest including Llyn Brienne reservoir (a Dark Skies discovery site), Twm Siôn Cati's Cave and the Doethie Valley mountain bike trail, the longest single track in Wales. It is located in a designated Celtic rainforest area and RSPB reserve and on the Cambrian Way.

The cottage is located about 3 miles from the village of Rhandirmwyn which has a church and 2 public houses with the market town of Llandovery being approximately 11 miles away and offers comprehensive shopping facilities including public houses/restaurants, cafes, post office, ice cream parlour, patisserie, cottage hospital, doctors surgery, swimming pool and supermarket just on the outskirts of town with junior school and Llandovery College in the private sector.

Directions

From Llandovery continue for about 8 miles to the village of Rhandirmwyn. Continue for about 2 miles beyond the Royal Oak Public House and then turn left signposted for Troedyrhiw down a no through road, cross over the river bridge and continue for 1 mile. The entrance gate to the property is just before a small newly built bridge. The access drive to the property extends for approximately half a mile and great care should be taken when driving down this track because there are places where there are steep drops immediately adjacent to the track.
