FULHAM AREA GUIDE

Munster Village

A popular group of residential streets making up a sizeable portion of housing stock. Christened 'Munster Village' by, you guessed it, an estate agent, the name seems to have stuck. And it's an appropriate description for this large area of residential streets running off Munster Road itself, which feels very much like its own neighbourhood.

Serviced by some great bars and restaurants it's a popular place to start Fulham life. Prices are reasonable (although increase the further South you go) and there's a wide range of residential property, from the small but perfectly formed Victorian cottages on Orbain Road, through the mansion blocks of St. Olaf's Road to the grander family homes on Wardo Avenue and Gowan Avenue.

Centrally located, transport links can be frustrating depending on which road although it doesn't stop the area being incredibly popular, especially with families seeking sensibly priced houses. Usually the drawback here is the extended walk to the nearest tube, although it's more than worth it for the property available.
