We are delighted to offer to the market this stylish two-bed apartment. This iconic building is regarded as a special example of 'Machine Age' 20th - Century Architecture and was originally commissioned by Lord Beaverbrook in 1937, as a flagship building to house and print his national newspaper - The Daily Express. Latterly, it also housed the Glasgow Herald, before being redeveloped and beautifully modernized into a fine example of Glasgow's unique architecture.

CONSIDERED IN 1937 BY LORD BEAVERBROOK AS ONE OF THE NEW BUILDINGS TO HOUSE HIS PUBLISHING COMPANY, THE EXPRESS, THE DAILY HERALD, THE EVENING NEWS AND THE GLASGOW FREE PRESS. THE STRIKING DESIGN OF THE BRICKWORK, STEEL, WOOD AND GLASS FACADE IS AN EXAMPLE OF MACHINE AGE ARCHITECTURE. THE BUILDING'S DESIGN WAS A FINE EXAMPLE OF MACHINE AGE ARCHITECTURE. The spacious, low-maintenance, design-led property just oozes modern urban living and is presented to the market in good condition throughout.

The apartment has been well-designed to maximize the natural available light and create a modern ambience. Room dimensions are excellent and the accommodation has been arranged to offer flexibility and individuality, with a seductively elegant open-plan living, dining and kitchen area. The kitchen has integrated appliances including; a built-in electric oven, hob and dishwasher, equipping it for both convenience and functionality. There's also a recessed area to house the freestanding fridge freezer.

The unique extensive glazing in the lounge creates a literal wall of glass and brings in the maximum available light. Tremendous views of the surrounding area are available from here and there's ample space for a dining table and chairs.

The crisp and contemporary styling continues into the two bedrooms. Both have double glazed privacy windows, while the master benefits from a built-in wardrobe recess and the second bedroom from tremendous extra storage space. The internal accommodation is completed by a stunning modern shower room and a utility space which houses the washer/dryer.

The apartment is serviced by electric heating and has good integral storage throughout, as well as two cupboards in the hallway, making the very best of available space. Secure entry access and two lifts complement the building. Reasonably priced parking is available in any one of the nearby NCP car parks, only within a short distance from the apartment.

Early viewing is a must for anyone seeking a very stylish place to call home or a solid Buy-To-Let Investment property.
