Edinburgh's city centre and West End are famous for their Georgian and Victorian architecture. The interiors often feature spacious high ceiling rooms with beautiful, ornate cornice work and ceiling roses. There is possibly no greater concentration of this style and quality of architecture to be found anywhere else in Britain.

Princes Street, with its beautiful backdrop of Edinburgh Castle and Princes Street Gardens, offers some of Edinburgh's most specialist shops, as well as truly extensive shopping facilities. There is an endless variety of restaurants and bars with every possible taste in food catered for hotels, theatres and cinemas are all within easy reach at the West-End and are, at most, a five minute walk away. Art galleries and places of historical interest abound.

Small, local shopping centres are distributed all around the West End and New Town at places like William Street and Queensferry Road, and these supply all daily requirements adequately. There are regular public bus services to all parts of the city and beyond, whilst Haymarket and Waverley Station provides an excellent train service to all parts of the country.
