Wellfield House

Acklington Park, Acklington, Morpeth,
Northumberland, NE65 9AA

Beautiful stone built, three bedroom country house, with a one bedroom annexe/cottage - circa 2.355 acres of formal gardens and grassland, large metal sheds, small woodland copse, two timber garages and two stone pillared driveways with parking for a number of cars - Some updating and modernisation required - NO UPWARD CHAIN

Wellfield House offers a fabulous lifestyle opportunity, with a three bedroom main house and one bedroom annexe cottage, ideal for multi generational living, as a holiday let (subject to restrictive covenants) or as one larger country house, combining the two separate dwellings.

The house, believed to date from 1860 has been lived in by the current family for 25 years, has been well maintained throughout with uPVC double glazed windows, oil central heating to the main house and bottle LPG gas to the cottage (not working at present) however, requires cosmetic updating.

The gardens of Wellfield House are well maintained, with extensive lawned, formal gardens with mature hedging to the boundary and a magnificent Monkey Puzzle tree central to the plot - the house and gardens enjoy a lovely south facing aspect, overlooking the adjoining fields and countryside. To the rear of the house are two timber garages/sheds and a copse of trees giving privacy and screening - the paddock/grassland to the eastern boundary houses substantial metal sheds, used historically for vintage tractors, and ideal for buyers wishing to store machinery or a number of vehicles.
